LAUTH INVESTIGATIONS: HEIR SEARCH SERVICES

Lauth Investigations International is a well-reputed, family-owned business that provides thorough intelligence services. They conduct their findings to people, firms, and lawyers worldwide.

What Job Does Heir Search Company Do?

It is exciting to imagine getting a phone call that says you have an inheritance you were unaware of. Interestingly, one out of 10 people has outstanding assets, from disowned estates to life insurance paid, unearned dividends, and dormant accounts. Heir search firms are in business to facilitate the return of lost artifacts to their deserved owners.

The Heir Search Process

- Investigation: Investigators collect information via in-depth research, utilizing databases, and following leads. This is usually done by jigsawing various documents to get a fleshed-out overview.
- Locating Heirs: The team constructs a family tree to differentiate heirs and initiate communication. In some cases, this can even include searches on a global scale.

Genealogy Investigations

The forensic genealogy, or genealogical research, plays an important role in their search services. This involves searching databases to construct a full family tree and locating all the rightful heirs to the inheritance.

Legal Support

Once the information has been collected, the investigators ensure it is presented adequately, meeting legal standards for will probate, court proceedings, or assets release. This might involve acting as a go-between with lawyers or delivering expert witness testimony.

Lauth Investigations' Return Assets Division

Lauth Investigations has provided comprehensive investigation services since its inception under Tom Lauth and his wife, Rain. The Return Assets Division (RAD) was launched in 2012 to help families and individuals recover assets:

- Proven Success: RAD has recovered more than $15 million worth of assets with a 98% success rate by charging clients a contingency fee, and only after they have been paid their assets.
- Experienced Team: Under the direction of seasoned investigator Thomas Lauth, the RAD multidisciplinary investigation squad draws from multiple areas such as private investigations, missing person searches, and corporate investigations.
- Client-Centered Approach: Dedication of the team leads to a smooth and fast claims processing process, effective communication, and swift actions for the return of assets.
- Professional Recognition: The Lauth's Return Asset Division's A+ rating from Better Business Bureau confirms their honesty and competency.

Client Testimonials

The young lady who took care of all the work regarding trying to secure this claim could not possibly have been more patient and more kind. She kept at this endeavor through thick and thin. It turned out to be quite a lengthy and convoluted situation, but she never once gave up on us as or trying to get all of the relevant information to the state of Colorado. I very much appreciated her attitude, her perseverance, and her always upbeat messages

I am writing today to let you know what a great experience I had working with Paula Douglas; Paula is both personable and professional. Throughout this entire process, she readily and promptly answered any and all of my questions. Paula was upfront and honest from the get go and she definitely is an expert in her field.

I would happily work with Paula again in the future; now all we need is another long, lost family estate! Thanks so much!

We just received our lost assets check, and I'd like to take this opportunity to tell you what a great job our claim researcher did in helping us claim it. He always answered my questions and concerns and returned my phone calls in a very timely manner. We are very pleased with our settlement. The money came at a very needed time and for this, my husband and I are very grateful.

My Claim Researcher couldn't have been more pleasant, kind, and helpful. At the beginning of all this I didn't have a clue which way to go. He directed me at every turn telling me where to find the information that was needed. I called him frequently with many questions. He was always ready with the information or called back promptly with the information. I was pleased with his soft-spoken guidance. I would gladly give him an A+!
